NEARLY DONE!

The improvements and changes we have been making in our house are now nearly completed, and a day or two more for finishing and painting and we will have heard the last of the carpenter's hammer and saw, while the painter's brush will have put on the last touches. We think our many patrons will appreciate the much needed room we have lately added. We believe we are safe in saying that we can now supply your wants more readily and easily than ever before. We know that you will find much more comfort in trading at our counters than since we have opened in this city, for in making our improvements we have aimed to so arrange our house as to be the most convenient for the public. We extend to all a welcome invitation to call and while away an afternoon in making an inspection of our house and the various lines we carry constantly in stock. We shall in the future, as we have in the past, do all in our power to merit your patronage. We shall keep the best goods in the market, and will at all times guarantee our prices for the same quality of goods to be as low, and in most cases lower than those of any house on this Coast. Our business has grown rapidly since our advent in this city some four years ago, and if strict attention to business, combined with our facilities for purchasing goodswhich are second to none on this coast-will accomplish anything, we propose to still further increase our trade. We are thankful to the people for their patronage, and we pledge ourselves that in all cases we will keep the prices of DRY GOODS, FANCY GOODS, CLOTHING, FURNISHING GOODS, AND BOOTS AND SHOES as low as is consistent with good, sound business principles.

EGOISM IN JOURNALISM.

There is nothing more offensive in any personality than egotism. The projection of self and its achivements into all conversation, and the measurement of all things by the standard of self importance is an unfailing evidence of ill-breeding. A man's character is measurable by that which is chiefly characteristic of himself and no disguises will deceive the student of men in this respect. Where egotism is the prominent feature in character it is th probe that measures its shallowness.

Precisely what is true in this respect o personality, is true of journalism. Egotism in the newspaper field is what Holland once aptly termed "dandyism," when he declared that a man will write of that which fills him. The newspaper has, and should have, a personality of egotism. It comes to speak of itself as an animate be ing, as doing, thinking, believing, reason ing. But egotism in it not infrequently becomes as offensive as in the individual There is nothing in journalism more repul sive than this detestable vice. It marks th distinction unmistakably between the rea and the false conception of the true spher of one of the greatest of modern arts.

The true newspaper is an impersonality dealing with facts and ideas that are the bases its highest claims upon the merit o he matter presented, and not upon the fac that it is presented by the journal. Sensational and egotistical journalism subordi nates all things to the so-called spirit of "enterprise." With it the character of the matter presented, its influence upon man kind, and the forcefulness of the thought but the fact that the medium of expression is to be glorified is the chief consideration personality, and abhorrence of self-laudaion are among the loftiest attributes of gentility, and one of the profoundes testimonies of true worth. As this is tru of persons, it is true of newspapers. The chief vice of journalism to-day is the ego ism born of that which is styled enter prise, and which has given to these days he distinctively sensational journal, that has more of the vicious to answer for that any other literary agency. It may b safely assumed that no really great journa became such so long as it bore the ear marks of sensationalism and egoism When it attained to respectability and a fixed value it was when it ceased to be ego tistical and dealt with facts, ideas and top ics without the nauseating "I" writte upon every paragraph. The world of read ers are unsparing critics. For a time the may be amused by trumpet blowing, but as they are never entertained by it, disgust thought that seven years would be a proper very speedily supervenes. There cannot be recalled at this time a solitary sensa tional newspaper in this State that has not been driven sooner or later to abandon the his name, we will print his criticism in full field, sink self, and appeal to the thought, judgment and justice of men for the right | without comment, and will accord his personto live. There is not to-day a single ego tistical news journal that has a certain tenure of existence. The history of sensational and egotistical journalism demonstrates that truism. The self-conceit of journalism must die with the personality that hear him: "I went in with my eyes open to do prompts it, and hence it is that the feeblest what I could within the party; I did my best lease of life any newspaper can have is and got beaten, and I propose to stand by the that which is dependent upon a real or traditional personality. CALIFORNIA STATE BANK CAUTION.

DON'T BE MISLED BY REPRESENTATIONS Don't be misled by representations of full iron frames in Upright Pianos as being equal to the MATHUSHEK, for upon examination it will be found that the MATHUSHEK Upright Piano is the only Piano that has a cup of wood bushing forced into solid iron, into which the tuning pins are set, which no other Piano has. Take a toothpick or penknife blade, and you can insert it all around the tuning pin in all other Pianos down to the wooden plank, which will prove the above assertion. Then note the MATHUSHEK, and don't be deceived.

STYLISH AND ECONOMICAL

VELVETS, broches and VELVETEENS continue in demand both for street and reception ostume, and judging from our foreign fashion notes, are likely to continue in favor for several easons.—[Godey's Lady Book, 1884.

VELVETEENS.—We are perceiving that of all dress materials these are the most becoming, s well as the most stylish. Those who know predict a still greater demand for these goods— Bazar, 1884.

FASHION'S CHANGES —There is an old saving that "Fashion is fickle:" but the in creased demand for velvets and velveteens must be the exception that proves the rule, for the forthese goods promises a great increase the coming season.—Peterson's Magazine, 1884.

ARCADIA VELVETEEN Has the indorsements of the FAS JOURNALS, and the BEST RECORD The newest triumph in velveteen has been achieved by the "Arcadia," a Manchester production of exceeding fineness, depth and richness of texture. Its pile is soft, close and even, and experts fail to detect the difference between it and real velvet when made up.—[Demorest's Magazine.]

For depth of beauty and richness of color and durability, the "ARCADIA VELVETEEN" is surpassed by nothing of its kind. It is shown this season in all the latest and most beautiful shades and tipts that are ruling in the most fashionable Parisian novelties.—[Peterson's Magazine.]

The motto of an Irish Count, blazoned on his coat of arms, was:

"ALWAYS READY!"

This, too, is a mainspring in our service to you. One unacquainted with the growth and widereaching nature of a business like this would be surprised at the variety of the demands made upon it. On one of the hottest afternoons last week there was a call for a "heavy overcoat." And so it goes. In extensive storekeeping the improbable is oftimes the most probable.

Still, the aim must be to meet every possible demand. In seasonable goods, most fully and completely so. For we advertise wide variety. It is held up as one of the shining merits of the House. Many persons, at great inconvenience, travel long distances to give us their trade on that account. To find a lack of assortment would be a disappointment to customers. An injury to us.

This is why we bate no jot in our efforts to be "always ready."

On examining the urinary deposits a ropy seddment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish ane, sgain changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness.
